Re: Notice of Ex Parte Presentation by DRW Trading Group; Waivers to Authorize Service in the 102-109.5 GHz Band; WT Docket No. 15-245

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On December 2, 2015, Cory Feign of DRW Trading Group ("DRW"), and Matthew Brill and Elizabeth Park of Latham & Watkins LLP, met with Blaise Scinto, John Schauble, Steve Buenzow (participating by teleconference) and Catherine Schroeder of the Broadband Division of the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau. DRW undertakes trading and investment opportunities around the world. DRW has an interest in opportunities to expand millimeter wave services to the 102-109.5 GHz band.

During the meeting, DRW discussed its support for opening the 102-109.5 GHz band for commercial millimeter wave services, particularly in certain urban markets where the 70/80/90 GHz frequencies are congested. We suggested that a rulemaking proceeding would be the most appropriate vehicle for allowing such services in the new band. If the Commission determines that use of this spectrum should be managed through a registration regime, adoption of industry-wide rules would ensure that a wide range of users have opportunities to access this spectrum.

If the Commission determines that use of this band should be authorized on an interim basis via waivers while a rulemaking proceeding is pending, DRW suggests that any waiver be granted on an industry-wide basis to prevent a limited number of waiver applicants from impeding registration of links by subsequent entrants.

Respectfully submitted,

Cory Feign
